City provides clarification on public access trails at Tavistock

The City of Vernon has an agreement with Tavistock to provide public trail access and a park as part of the overall Adventure Bay development. To date, the only public trail that has been constructed is known as the Tavistock Nature Trail (see map below).

“The Tavistock Nature Trail is a short trail that connects Tavistock Road to Crofton Road and the emergency egress; only the trail is currently open to public,” said Mayor Victor Cumming. “Future public trails and a small park will be dedicated and developed as the development is built out.”

The City will be placing signage to delineate the public trail. There are a number of other, less formal trails in the area, which are private. The City is requesting that community members stay on the public trail only.
