Have your say on summer camps and youth programming

Greater Vernon Recreation Services is seeking public input to help guide the future of youth programming offered in our community during the summer months.

“Summer day camps provide recreation opportunities for hundreds of Greater Vernon area children each year with safe, informative and fun activities,” said Shayne Wright, Manager, Community Recreation. “However, we recognize that the needs of the community are changing, and with your help, it is time to refresh our summer programming.”

Recreation Services offers a wide variety of camps to help encourage physical activity, healthy living and a community of connectedness for children and families.

A survey is now open at EngageVernon.ca to gather feedback on how Recreation Services can best provide options for summer programming.

Do we need more flexibility? How about shorter or longer camps? Let us know what would work best for your family. The public survey will be open until Sunday, January 7, 2024 at www.engagevernon.ca/recreation-summer-camps.
